

A SHOE SALE.

To meet the unprecedented demand for Tan Oxfords this season we have been obliged to carry an enormous stock. Our inventory just taken shows that we still have practically complete assortments of the most desirable styles. Since our store policy permits of no carrying over of unseasonable goods from one year to another, and in order positively to insure a quick clearance of these lines we announce a sale on all of our light weight summer shoes.

CHAPTER XII.

AT MASSARAH.

RACHEL had seen Kenkenes but twice in many weeks.

One midmorning the oxen were unyoked from the water cart and led ambling up to the pit where a monolith, too huge to be moved by men alone, had been taken forth and was to be transferred to the Nile. The bearers carried water directly from the river during this time, and it was given Rachel to govern them in the departure from the routine.

Suddenly she became aware that some one approached through the grain, and when she raised her head she looked up into the face of Kenkenes. It was Kenkenes indeed, but Kenkenes in robes of rustling linen and trappings of gold. Never had she seen so stately an Egyptian nor any so entitled to the name of nobleman. In quick succession she experienced the moving sensations of surprise, pride in him and depression. The last fell on her with the instant recollection of duty when his face bent appealingly over hers. Trembling, she turned away from him, and when she looked again he was returning to Memphis.

Time came and went, and weeks passed, and he came not again. Late one sunset while there yet was daylight she left the camp merely that she might wander down the valley to the same spot where at the same hour she had met Kenkenes on that last occasion of talk between them.

Moving slowly down the shadows, she saw a figure approaching. The stature of the newcomer identified him. The head was up, the step slow, the bearing expectant. In the one scant lapse between two throbs of her heart Rachel knew her lover, remembered all the power of his attraction and realized that her joy and love could carry her beyond her fortune and resolution.

Just ahead of her, not farther than three paces, a long fragment of rock had fallen from above and leaned against the wall. There was an ample space formed by its slant against the cliff, and almost before she knew it she had crept into this crevice. Covering in the dusk, she clutched at her loud beating heart and listened intently.

There was no sound of his steps on the rough roadway of the valley, and, though she watched eagerly from her hiding place, she did not see him pass. After a long time she emerged. He was gone.

When she looked in the dust she found that his footprints turned not far from her hiding place and led toward the Nile.

The next morning Rachel followed the children to the Nile. Crossing the field, absorbed in her trouble, she did not hear the beat of hoofs or the grind of wheels until she was face to face with the attendants of a company of charioteers. The troop of water carriers had scattered out of the roadway, and each little bronzed Israelite was bending with his right hand upon his left knee in token of profound respect. Rachel hastily joined them.

When she looked again the retinue of servants had passed. After them came a gilded chariot with a sumptuous Egyptian within. By the amulets over his temples and the fringed ribbons pendant therefrom the Israelite knew him to be royal.

Behind, a second chariot was driven by a single occupant, who wore the badges of princelhood also.

The third was a chariot of ebony drawn by two prancing coal black horses whose leathers and housings shone and jingled. Rachel's eyes met those of the driver, and the life current froze in her veins. Har-hat, fan bearer to the Pharaoh, late governor of Bubastis, drew up his horses and calmly surveyed her. The action halted the chariots of a dozen courtiers following him. One by one they came to a standstill, and each man peered around his predecessor until the fan bearer became conscious of the pawing horses realize that the beloved Rachel was in danger—dropped the hide he bore and, flinging himself before her, clasped her with his arms and turned a defiant face at Har-hat over his shoulder. The fan bearer paused.

"It is the very same," he said laughingly. "The Lord life of the quarries hath not robbed thee in the least of thy rancor. But by the gambling god, Toth, thou didst take a risk! Dost dream what thou didst miss through a malevolent caprice of the Hathors? Five months ago I would have taken thee out of bondage into luxury but for an industrious taskmaster and the unfortunate interference of a royal message. But the Seven Sisters repent, and I find thee again."

Rachel had fixed her eyes upon the white walls of Memphis shining in the morning sun and did not seem to hear him.

"Nay, now slight me not! It was the fault of the taskmaster and not mine. I confess the charm of distant Memphis, but it is more glorious within its walls. I am come to take thee thither. Thank me with but a look, I pray thee."

Seeing she did not move nor answer, he tilted his head to one side and surveyed her with interest. "Hath much soft persuasion sufficed thee into deafness?" The color surged up into Rachel's face.

"Ha," he exclaimed, "not so! Perhaps thou art but reluctant, then." He whirled upon the other children, cowering behind him.

"Is she wedded?" he demanded. Frightened and trembling, they did not answer till he repeated the question and stamped his foot. Then one of them shook his head.

"It is well. I need not delay till a slave husband were disposed of in the mines. Hither, Unas!"

The fat servant came forward. "I know this taskmaster not, nor can I coax or press him into giving her up without the cursed formality of a document of gift from the Pharaoh. Get thee back to Memphis with this"—he drew off a signet ring and gave it to the servant—"and to the palace. There have my scribe draw up a prayer to the Pharaoh craving for me the mastership over the Israelite Rachel—for household service."

The fan bearer laughed. "Forget not this latter phrase, else the Pharaoh might fancy I would take her to wife. Haste thee and bring back Nak and Hebest with thee to row the boat back and help thee fetch her. She may have a lover who might make trouble for thee alone. Get thee gone."

He took the reins from his servant's hands and turned again toward Rachel.

"I go forth to hunt, and there is danger in that pasture. I may not return. It would be most fitting to bid me a tender farewell, but thou art cruel. Nevertheless I shall care for myself most diligently this day and return to thee in Memphis by nightfall. Fare well!"

He sprang into his chariot and, urging his horses, pursued the far-away procession at a gallop.

Unas was already at the Nile side preparing to return to Memphis. To Rachel it seemed as if she had been set free for a moment, that her efforts to escape and her inevitable capture might amuse her tormentor, and, after the manner of the miserable captive so beset, she seized upon the momentary release and sought to fly. The three little Hebrews clung to her, the one that had answered Har-hat weeping bitterly and remorsefully.

"Nay, weep not," she said in a hurried whisper. "It would have ended just the same. Heard ye not what he said concerning a husband? But let me go! Let Rachel hide ere the serving men return!"

She undid their arms and ran back toward the quarries. For a moment the children hesitated, and then they pursued her, crying in an undertone as they ran. Past the stone pits, up the winding valley she fled until she reached the encampment and her own tent.

The women saw her come, and old Deborah, who was preparing vegetables for the noonday meal, left the fires and hastened to the shelter. There Rachel, choking with terror and tears, gave the story of the morning.

Deborah made no interruption, and after the disjointed and unhappy recital was complete she sat for some moments, motionless and silent. Then she arose and made as if to leave the tent, but Rachel caught at her hand in afright.

"Nay, be not so frightened," the old woman said soothingly. "I go to look for Atsu. He will come in a little while."

With that she went forth. After a time, more than two hours in truth, but infinitely longer to Rachel, the voice of the taskmaster was heard without talking with Deborah. He was permitting no curb to the expression of his rage.

"The gods rend his heart to ribbons!" he panted after a tempest of anathema. "Curse the insatiable brute! Are there not enough of Egypt's women who are willingly loose that he must destroy the purest spirit on earth? He shall not have her, if I take his life to save her!"

After a moment's savage exclamation he broke out again.

"He has us on the hip! We shall be put to it to hide her away from him now. Do thou go to her—nay, I will go."

Rachel heard him enter the tent and walk across the matting on the floor. She flung her arm over her face and huddled closer to the linen covered heap of straw against which she had thrown herself. Even the eyes of the taskmaster were intolerable in her shame. Atsu plunged into the heart of his subject at once.

A POSSIBLE HITCH

Sakhalin Is Again Giving Peace Plenipotentiaries Trouble.

A MATTER OF FORTS

Russia Understands That She May Fortify the Island; the Japs Hold Contrary View.

Formal Treaty Will Probably Be Completed Ready For the Engroses's Pen Today.

Portsmouth, N. H., Sept. 2.—Mr. De Martens and Mr. Dennison, the framers of the treaty of Portsmouth, expect to complete their work today. The treaty must then be engrossed in French and English in duplicate which may take several days. It now seems probable that the framers will be able to confine the treaty to fourteen articles instead of fifteen as was the original plan.

The effect of the armistice concluded yesterday is that it becomes operative only upon the signature of the treaty by the plenipotentiaries and continues until the final ratification of the emperors of the two countries. It is for this reason that the plenipotentiaries who will themselves convey to their respective capitals the momentous document which will become binding must receive the signatures of their respective emperors, are anxious to leave at the earliest possible date, foregoing the innumerable invitations which have been showered upon them.

The only possible hitch on the horizon of the peace conference, according to reports current here, which, however, are not officially confirmed, arises out of an evident misunderstanding over the question of the neutralization of the island of Sakhalin. According to the Japanese understanding reached on Tuesday, the agreement contemplated a mutual obligation on the part of the two countries not to fortify their respective possessions on the island. At St. Petersburg, however, there seems to have been an assumption that the agreement involved freedom of action upon the part of Russia in this respect in the north of the Japanese not to fortify or use for strategic purposes the portion owned by her before 1876, which is to be retroceded in the present treaty. It is expected on both sides, however, that the hitch if it really exists as reported, will shortly be straightened out. Cable communication between Baron Komura and his government was interrupted for the greater part of Friday, but a message is said to have been received late last night. It is understood to be the present intention of the Tokyo government not to make publication of peace until the treaty has been signed and exchanged. The official explanation is that this is the "regular diplomatic method of procedure," but among the Japanese correspondents considerable suspicion has been aroused by the fact that until now their cablegrams giving the terms of peace have not passed the censor. They do not hesitate to say that the government is anxious about the effect on public opinion when it becomes known that Japan waived her demand for indemnity to obtain peace.

Keeping Up the Bluff.

London, Sept. 2.—The correspondent of the Morning Post at St. Petersburg asserts that the Russian government is making efforts to impress on the Shah of Persia that Russia is still a great military power. Some of the finest troops in the empire are now concentrated at St. Petersburg, according to the correspondent, who says that the police have ordered every household to display the Persian flag on the occasion of the Shah's arrival.

'Tisn't So, Says Mr. Witte.

Portsmouth, N. H., Sept. 2.—Mr. Witte desires to state that the report of the interview with him published by the St. Petersburg Slove and telegraphed back to Europe and America is incorrect.

Gen. Kakhanoff Retired.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 2.—Gen. Kakhanoff, commander of the military district of Odessa has been placed on the retired list as the result of the disorders last June.

Sentenced for Life.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 2.—Frank Weekly and Tom Sherman, of Independence, Mo., were found guilty of murdering Pawnbroker Joseph Moyer in his shop here July 28, and sentenced to life imprisonment. They were arrested in Cleveland, O., Aug. 5, one week after the murder and part of the jewelry stolen from Moyer's shop was found on them.

Robbery by Wholesale.

New York, Sept. 2.—Jose Aymars' residence at 76 East 54th street has been plundered during the last week of jewelry, bric-a-brac, paintings, silver, etc., worth, it is alleged, more than $100,000. The family is in Canada.

No Trace of Martin.

Muncie, Ind., Sept. 2.—Nothing has been heard from Ralph Martin, the young telegraph operator who mysteriously disappeared from his home in this city six weeks ago. The young man had considerable money. His mother has sought the aid of the police in the cities of this and various other states.

Veterans Beginning to Arrive.

Denver, Sept. 2.—Although the date for the opening of the thirty-ninth annual encampment of the G. A. R. is three days distant, crowds of visitors have begun pouring into the Union station.

FEAR TREASON IN CAMP.

Indianapolis Democrats in Fear and Trembling Watch Taggart.

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 2.—There is considerable speculation here just now as to what attitude National Chairman Taggart and his lieutenants will take in the local campaign. As a matter of course they will declare themselves for Mayor Holtzman's reelection. They will be for him openly, but, to quote a now famous expression of one of the old-time Indiana Republican politicians, what the followers of Holtzman want to know is whether or not they will be "fer" him. There is considerable difference in being for and being "fer" anyone and just now there is much anxiety among Mayor Holtzman's friends as to whether it is to be for or "fer." It has been no secret here for a long time that many of Taggart's lieutenants have never liked the present Democratic leaders and that they were only lukewarm in the last campaign. They are being watched now, for their course will have a great deal to do in determining the result of the battle between Holtzman and Bookwalter.

A report has been completed by State Statistician Stubbs showing that 540,112 residents of Indiana are depositors in banks or trust companies. The report is the first one of the kind prepared in Indiana. There are 683 financial institutions divided as follows: National banks, 184; state banks, 175 private banks, 260; trust companies and savings banks, 64. There are 110 incorporated towns that have no banks. The total liabilities of all the institutions are $268,278,172.97. The deposits amount to $201,624,504.02, or about $70 for each man, woman and child in the state. Of the total resources the loans and discounts amount to $146,004,050.05. Last year these institutions paid the state $762,969.00 in taxes and employed 3,013 people. The resources of the national banks amounted to $146,554,652.25; the deposits amounted to $105,175,727.55; circulating notes $13,407,546.53; undivided profits, $2,493,986.06; surplus $6,749,954.49. The liabilities and resources of the private banks amounted to $37,275,220.01; state banks, $40,140,496.72; savings banks and trust companies, $44,207,893.09.

Speaker Cannon is the guest of his friend and protégé Senator James A. Hemenway, at Boonville. Incidentally he is attending the Warrick county fair this week. The Warrick county fair association is the only one in the state, by the way, that can boast of entertaining such a distinguished personage as the speaker of the national house of representatives as well as a United States senator. Speaker Cannon is right at home with the people of Warrick county, as he frequently visits Senator Hemenway and in every state and national campaign for many years he has made speeches throughout the first district which is not far from his home in Danville, Ill. He is quoted as saying that it is too hot now to talk politics. He may remain in Indiana until the first of next week. It is understood that Senator Hemenway expects to move to Washington the latter part of the month.

Oscar Hadley, of Danville, candidate for the Republican nomination for treasurer of state is setting a rapid pace for his opponents although he is a new man in the race. All of the candidates except Hadley and Jonce Monahan, of Orleans, had a work out three years ago when Nat U. Hill was nominated. Monahan has been building his fences for three years and is a hard worker, but Hadley seems to be going so rapidly that he is causing no end of worry among the friends of the other candidates. He was here today and stated that he feels pretty good over the situation so far as he is concerned. He will probably soon be known as the Quaker candidate, as he comes from a Quaker neighborhood in Hendricks county.

THE STATE OF TRADE.

Business in All Lines Marked by Unusual Activity.

New York, Sept. 2.—Broadstreet's weekly review of trade today says: September buying opens with fall buying apparently at a maximum, marked activity in all lines of industry, liberal buying by railroads of rails and supplies, currency shipments to the country to move crops increasing and with confidence as to the outlook for trade previously noted strengthened by the successful issue of the Russo-Japanese peace negotiations. These latter, jointly with the increased pressure of supplies of agricultural products at leading markets have had a distinct effect upon many commodity values, the tendency being toward a lower level in cotton, live animals, potatoes and butter. It is to be noted, however, that home products are strong and higher on the week.

No Trace of Martin.

Muncie, Ind., Sept. 2.—Nothing has been heard from Ralph Martin, the young telegraph operator who mysteriously disappeared from his home in this city six weeks ago. The young man had considerable money. His mother has sought the aid of the police in the cities of this and various other states.

Truths that Strike Home

Your grocer is honest and—if he cares to do so—can tell you that he knows very little about the bulk coffee he sells you. How can he know, where it originally came from, how it was blended—or with what—or when roasted? If you buy your coffee loose by the pound, how can you expect purity and uniform quality?

LION COFFEE, the LEADER OF ALL PACKAGE COFFEES, is of necessity uniform in quality, strength and flavor. For over a quarter of a century, LION COFFEE has been the standard coffee in millions of homes.

LION COFFEE is carefully packed at our factories, and until opened in your home, has no chance of being adulterated, or of coming in contact with dust, dirt, germs, or unclean hands.

In each package of LION COFFEE you get one full pound of Pure Coffee. Insist upon getting the genuine. (Lion head on every package.)

ASIATIC PLAGUE

Full Legal and Medical Machinery at Work to Prevent Invasion.

NO FEAR OF EPIDEMIC

Eminent Berlin Health Authority Says Ample Measures Are at Work to Protect Europe.

Organization Quite Adequate to Grasp Beginnings of Cholera and Put it Down.

Berlin, Sept. 2.—Forty-three cases of cholera in all have been reported. Nine persons have died from the disease and many suspicious cases are under observation. The legal and medical machinery for dealing with this invasion of the Asiatic bacillus is now working with full pressure.

Prof. Edward Sonnenburg declares that no one need fear an epidemic such as that of 1892-93 because the health authorities since that time had built up an organization quite adequate to grasp the beginnings of cholera and to put down the disease with precision and firmness.

The health machinery to which Prof. Sonnenburg alluded is working in co-operation with the police and other public services. With the exception of the one death at Hamburg the cholera is confined to the West Prussian districts and every case of illness in these districts must be immediately reported to the authorities. An experienced physician and bacteriologist at once takes the case under observation and if the symptoms are suspicious the person is promptly isolated.

The state has now detained under medical observation nearly 1,000 persons, including emigrants at Brunswick. Careful and warnings have been distributed and these have led to spontaneous and intelligent co-operation with the sanitary officers. If the same vigilance and the same spirit were shown beyond the Russian frontier, the Prussian health authorities would feel satisfied with what is being done. A doubt almost amounting to conviction exists that the Russian administration has not yet been aroused to the danger, and that its task of dealing with the problem is much more difficult than that which confronts the authorities here.

BATTLE WITH ECOURGE.

Concerted Effort to Keep Cholera From Our Shores.

New York, Aug. 2.—That extra precautions shall be taken to prevent bringing in a case of cholera among immigrants from German ports was agreed at a conference between Health Officer A. H. Doty of this port and the representative of several trans-Atlantic steamship companies.

The plan is said to exclude board care in taking the immigrants on board ship in German ports. The discovery of a case of cholera in Hamburg was the cause of the conference. Dr. Doty said after the conference that he had no reason to think that cholera would get to New York, considering all the precautions being taken. He said: "There was a case of cholera in Hamburg. It was promptly discovered and speedily taken care of by the authorities. No other case has been located there, and it is the belief that there are no others. Nevertheless precautions must be taken. I had a talk with the captains of several of the steamship companies and submitted to them a plan which they accepted. I do not care to say what it was."

May Spoil Big Parade.

Chicago, Sept. 2.—Prospects for holding a successful labor day parade received another blow when musicians informed the Chicago Federation of Labor that they would withdraw from the line of march rather than play with men who wore uniforms other than those adopted by the Chicago Federation of Musicians. The decision of the musicians threatens to result not only in a lack of music, but also in the withdrawal of a number of trade organizations.

May Extend Printers' Strike.

Chicago, Sept. 2.—Spread of the job printers strike to other cities is a possibility following the arrival of President James Lynch of the International Typographical union today. In a conference here President Lynch will talk over the situation as it applies to Chicago and the whole country with President Wright and other Chicago leaders. After the conference an order may be issued calling out printers in several large cities where the National Typothetae has shops.

Yellow Jack at New York.

New York, Sept. 2.—Henry R. Wardell, an American employed by the Panama railroad as a boiler-maker, is seriously ill with yellow fever in the quarantine hospital in Swinehead Island. Wardell arrived in New York Thursday as a first cabin passenger on the Panama railroad steamer Havan from Colon.

Extensive Fraud Alleged.

Chicago, Sept. 2.—George E. Davenport, said by the post office inspectors of Cincinnati to be a swindler, is under arrest here. It is claimed by the federal authorities that Davenport has swindled many business men and farmers in various parts of the middle west during the last two years. His method of operations, it is declared by the officers to have been to sell woollens and silks, and then to get the man who purchased it to send it to a branch house, which Davenport claimed to have, to be made into garments. The purchaser would never see his goods again.

Dog Causes Mix-Up.

Cincinnati, O., Sept. 2.—A dog running across the track as the horses were turning into the stretch in the last race came near causing a fatal accident at Latonia yesterday. Doctor Karth with J. Hicks up, went down and Henry Morn with Williams in the saddle stumbled over him. Both boys sustained serious injury.

Will be paid by the World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. "For about two years I suffered from a very obstinate case of dyspepsia," writes E. E. Second, Esq., of 13 Eastern Ave., Toronto, Ontario. "I tried a great number of remedies without success. I finally lost faith in them all. I was so far gone that I could not for a long time bear any solid food in my stomach; felt melancholy and depressed. Some four months ago a friend recommended your 'Golden Medical Discovery.' After a week's treatment I had derived so much benefit that I continued the medicine. I have taken three bottles and am convinced it has in my case accomplished a permanent cure. I can conscientiously recommend it to the thousands of dyspeptics throughout the land."

A man can succeed and be strong if he heeds Nature's warnings. When there is indigestion, loss of appetite, ringing in the ears, dizziness, spots before the eyes or palpitation of the heart; any or all of these symptoms point to weakness and loss of nutrition. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is the medicine to turn to.

"Golden Medical Discovery" contains no alcohol and is entirely free from opium, cocaine and all other narcotics. It is strictly a temperance medicine.

Accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery." There is nothing "just as good" for diseases of the stomach.

CHANGES IN SHOW.

Wallace's Circus is Different This Year.

The Great Wallace Show, which will exhibit here next Tuesday is unlike other shows in many respects. People who absent themselves from the Wallace Show because they have seen some other circus are using very poor discretion. The fact that all books are books, does not make the books alike. The fact that all cars are cars does not make all cars alike. Some are so much superior to others that they are not similar except perchance in shape.

So it is with the Great Wallace Show. It gives its exhibition under a canvas, but that is about the limit of its similarity to other shows. Its superb equipment, its "finest horses on earth," and its concert bands of best musicians, its waterproof canvas, its rich harness and trappings, its score of original clowns, and its hundreds of the highest salaried performers to be found, all go to make up a magnificent show, that places the Wallace Circus in a class entirely by itself.

After a visit to the Million Dollar Menagerie, and after witnessing a great performance by all-star performers and well-trained animals, the public in each community visited by this show, has nothing but unstinted praise for the Wallace Show, since it exhibits all it advertises, and fulfills all promises.

Labor Day Sermon.

For many years the labor question has been a subject of study and concern to the religious organizations. No religious gathering of any size has failed to give this subject some place in its deliberations. In great industrial centers no day evangelistic meetings have been held and the church is sought to come into closer touch with working men. The Presbyterians took a step in advance at the last general assembly and established a department of Church and Labor as a part of the Board of Home Missions, with Charles Stelze, for many years a mechanic, at the head of this new work. There is no other such department of church work in the United States. In thousands of Presbyterian pulpits addresses will be delivered tomorrow on the labor question. Mr. Shields will speak on this subject at the morning service and all workmen are cordially invited.

The feature attraction at the carnival, "The Girl in the Red Domino."

Rev. H. C. Pierson and Rev. F. M. Green, of Seymour, are in the city conducting holiness meetings at Mission hall, on Jackson street. The members of that church declare that the meetings are the best that have been held here in several years and are enthusiastic over the number of additions. Miss Pierson, daughter of Rev. Pierson, and Miss Trueblood, are assisting in the meeting—Columbus Herald.

WOUND FATAL.

Albert Burkhardt Dies As Result of Shot.

Albert Burkhardt, the Indianapolis boy who was visiting at the home of Charles Krumme north of town, died at three o'clock this morning as the result of the wound he received Thursday from being accidentally shot by a little boy visiting at the same place from Jeffersonville.

Burkhardt was a boy about seventeen years of age and attaches no blame whatever to the little boy who shot him as he himself had let the gun lay around carelessly. While the wound was not at first supposed to be so serious Dr. Shields found yesterday that the ball had penetrated the cavity of the abdomen and that the wound was fatal.

Mrs. Ed Burkhardt, the boy's mother, came down from Indianapolis yesterday. The family live in Seymour about eleven years and are very well known around here. The remains will be taken to Indianapolis on the 9:50 train Sunday morning and the funeral and burial will take place at 2 o'clock Monday. Chas. Krumme will accompany the remains to Indianapolis and will stay until after the funeral.

TWO MORE

Bogus Checks Turned Up at Washington.

The loss by the forgery is increasing. Today it stands at $1,408.40.

Friday morning two more forged checks were returned to the Peoples National bank. One bore the indorsement of Addie Dillard, the saloon keeper, and the other of Charles Valin. Dillard's loss is $78.10 and that of Valin is $70.10. This is the second check for Valin, he having received one of the worthless papers through the bank last Wednesday. His total is $162.10, close to the loss of Hugh L. Cox, who was swindled out of $163.20. The receipt of the two checks was a surprise.

The loss in Washington stands at the head of the cities that were visited by the swindlers. The loss in Cincinnati up to date is $1,053. New checks are constantly appearing, however.

It is asserted that four railroad detectives are in the city working on the case. The men are in disguise. It is not known whether they are working on the McGath case but the appearances are that they place little weight on his arrest.

Henry McGath, arrested by the city police as a suspect in the B. & O. S-W forgery case, is still in jail. He is serving time on a minor charge until further investigation of the case is made.—Washington Democrat.

An Animal Story For Little Folks

Mr. Camel in Trouble

Were you ever warned to avoid debt? If not, I warn you now, and I will tell you the story of the poor old camel who got in debt. Perhaps he had been careless, perhaps misfortune had chosen him for her prey. At any rate, he became involved in debt to the kangaroo, and was hauled before Judge Ape to give an account of himself.

"How much money do you owe the kangaroo?" asked the judge as he frowned at the prisoner before him.

"Four dollars and twenty-nine cents."

Exhibit Of Machinery.

Farmers over the State who attend the Indiana State Fair give much of their attention to the exhibits of machinery. In fact, the fair has through this department been of much help to the farmers who have sought machinery which would help to increase the output of a farm and at the same time reduce the labor. The machinery exhibit at the Indiana fair is rated by the manufacturers as one of the largest to be seen in America.

THREE JURORS CURED.

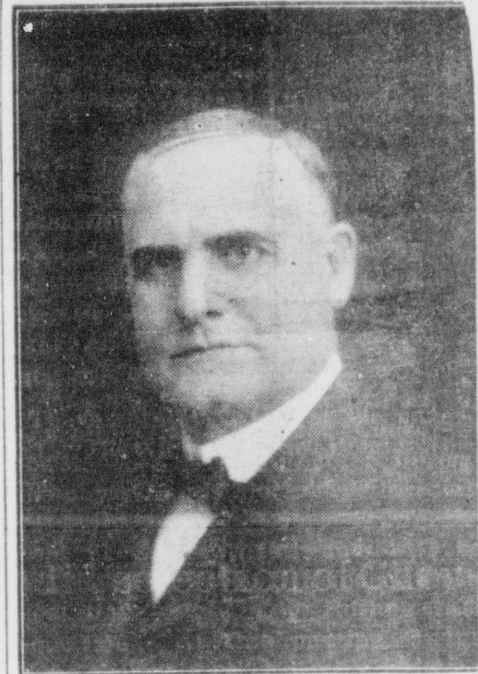

Of Cholera Morbus with One Small Bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

Mr. G. W. Fowler of Hightower, Ala., relates an experience he had while serving on a petit jury in a murder case at Edwardsville, county seat of Ceboune county, Alabama. He says: "While there I ate some fresh meat and some soured meat and it gave me cholera morbus in a very severe form. I was never more sick in my life and sent to the drug store for a certain cholera mixture, but the druggist sent me a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy instead, saying that he had what I set for but as this medicine was so much better he would rather send it to me in the box I was in. I took one dose and was better in five minutes. The second dose cured me entirely. Two fellow jurors were afflicted the same manner and one small bottle cured the three of us. Sold by C. W. Milhouse

GETTING READY.

Everybody Preparing For the Festivities of Next Week.

On every hand can be seen the work of preparation for the Log Rolling and Carnival next week. Some of the carnival attractions are here now and the work of placing them is going on. The city park is in fine shape for the Foresters who will be in camp there. Merchants are arranging for decorating their store fronts and all the business men are perfecting their plans for showing their goods to the best advantage. Everybody is busy, feeling confident that the festivities prepared for the week, will be high class and that a great crowd will be here.

Everything will be in shape Monday and at 7:30 Monday evening the festivities of the week will be formally opened and Mayor Graessle will make an address of welcome from a platform on east Second Street.

Tuesday Hon. A. R. Talbott, of Lincoln, Nebraska, Head Consul of the M. W. A. will be here to spend the day. At 9 o'clock that morning the first meeting of delegates will be held at Society Hall and will be presided over by A. N. Menden, president of the State Log Rolling Association. At this meeting Judge John M. Lewis will make the welcome address and Charles F. Remy, of Indianapolis, will respond. This and all other meetings will be open and the public is invited.

At 1:30 Tuesday Camp Seymour at the city park will be formally opened with appropriate ceremonies. At the conclusion of this exercise the Foresters and Woodmen in general will march to the opera house where Head Consul A. R. Talbott will make an address, which will be one of the features of the Log Rolling. The public is invited to hear Mr. Talbott, who was for several years the law partner of William Jennings Bryan. Major Claud Carter has been made commander-in-chief of the Foresters.

SEYMOUR PEOPLE

RESTORED TO SIGHT AGAIN.

Wonderful Results of Grim's Multi-Center Lenses.

Mr. A. B. KEITH, one of Seymour's most prominent grocers, says: "I have suffered for some time with dizziness and intense headaches. I would have spells when everything in front of me would become dark, spots were continually floating before me and I would at times become so confused I would stagger like a man drunken. The trouble became so aggravated I was compelled to give up my work temporarily."

I had been wearing glasses hoping to relieve my trouble but those I had secured did not answer the purpose. As a last resort I consulted Dr. Grim, Oculist-Optician and after having my eyes properly examined and having him fit me with a pair of his Multi-Center Lenses can say that I can now see as well as I ever did, the dizziness and headache have entirely disappeared and I am not troubled any more with those blind and staggering spells. Your glasses certainly worked wonders in my case."

SPECIAL FOR CARNIVAL WEEK.

From now until the end of the Woodmen's carnival week, to introduce more of my work and Grim's Multi-Center Lenses, I will make a reduction of 25 per cent. from my present low prices to all those consulting me for eye aid or glasses. This is an offer all should accept as my work is guaranteed to be satisfactory or your money will be refunded.

(Remember it is dangerous to have your eyes examined or glasses fitted by "so called opticians, optometrists and spectacle peddlers" who do not possess a thorough medical education.)

DEFENDING FISH

Game Wardens Going After Alleged Violators of the State Laws.

DYNAMITERS AT WORK

Evidence Is Revealed in Howard County of Extensive and Wholesale Destruction of Fish

Several Arrests Have Been Made and Others Are Promised Soon.

Kokomo, Ind., Sept. 2.—Game Warden Smith, of Logansport, has been in Howard county for a week investigating the alleged dynamiting of the waters of several ponds along Wildcat creek. He has arrested Fred Burgen and Ol Evans, farmers, living near Greentown, charging that they dynamited a pond in Liberty township on the night of Aug. 19, killing not only all the fish, but the frogs, turtles and other creatures the pond contained. Burgen and Evans are much worried. The minimum fine that can be imposed for killing fish with explosives is $250, and may be $1,000, in addition to which a jail sentence may be imposed.

Lewis Johnson, of Greentown, was arrested for having in his possession a bass less than ten inches in length. He entered a plea of guilty and was fined $30 and costs. The game warden says he has evidence against several other persons in the Greentown neighborhood, and that there will be more arrests.

FROM POST TO PILLAR

Pathetic Situation of Aged Wanderer, a Man Without a County.

Terre Haute, Ind., Sept. 2.—James Flynn, age 84 years, is an example of the method of keeping impoverished non-residents moving from county to county. At the police station he asked for a night's lodging. "I wish the authorities of this city would send me to the poor house and let me rest until I die." He has no known relatives and has not been able to remain in any one county long enough to establish a residence and be entitled to admittance to a poor farm. Whenever he has applied for admittance the authorities of that county instead have given him transportation to another county. This, he says, has been his lot for ten years. He is virtually a man without a county.

Says It Was an Accident.

Anderson, Ind., Sept. 2.—On information from her neighbors that Mrs. Catharine Shockey had been shot in the arm at her home, officers went there and arrested her 17-year-old son, Philip Shockey, and sent him to jail pending further investigation. Young Shockey admitted he shot his mother, but said he did it accidentally while handling a revolver. After an official inquiry the youth was given his liberty.

He Preferred Death.

Salem, Ind., Sept. 2.—Frank Wright committed suicide at his home here by shooting himself through the head with a revolver. A few years ago he fell into a well and broke his back and has been a helpless invalid ever since. He slept with a revolver under his pillow. The county authorities were preparing to take him to the poor asylum and he did not want to go. He was about 40 years of age.

Mrs. Hale Under Detention.

Valparaiso, Ind., Sept. 2.—Mrs. Mayme Hale, wife of the victim of Tuesday's tragedy, was taken in charge by Sheriff Green and is now occupying apartments in his residence, though not under arrest. The coroner and officers believe she knows something of the details of her husband's death.

Kicked to Death by Horse.

Union City, Ind., Sept. 2.—Clement Hinkle, 20 years old, a young giant of near this city, slapped a horse while watering him to make him "stand over," when the animal kicked him and crushed his skull. He died in a short time.

Foul Play Feared.

Muncie, Ind., Sept. 2.—Cornelius Price, a wealthy farmer living west of Muncie, came to Muncie a few days ago, drew $500 from a bank and has disappeared. Relatives fear that he has met with foul play.

Hiding Place Revealed.

Harmony, Ind., Sept. 2.—After hiding in the woods for a week William Dickens, said to be the assassin of Frank Lawson here Sunday, has been arrested. He claims self defense.

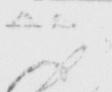

Found the Body.

Richmond, Ind., Sept. 2.—The body of William Thomas, prominent lodge man, missing since last Monday, was found yesterday, north of the city. He shot himself.

Both Expected to Die.

Madison, Ind., Sept. 2.—Charles Rowsey and Benjamin Graham, who were shot by George Dittgen at Camp Joe Wheeler, are both worse and are expected to die.

Two Dyspeptics

If you are too fat it is because your food turns to fat instead of muscle—strength. If you are too lean the fat-producing foods that you eat are not properly digested and assimilated. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure contains all the digestive juices that are found in a healthy stomach, and in exactly those proportions necessary to enable the stomach and digestive organs to digest and assimilate all foods that may be eaten. Kodol is not only a perfect digestant, but it is a reconstructive tissue building tonic as well. WORKING A MIRACLE.

Yellow Fever May Be Stamped Out Before Frost Comes.

New Orleans, Sept. 2.—New cases yesterday 39; total to date 1,958; deaths yesterday 4; total 281; new feel 10.

The fever record bears out the hopeful view of Dr. White and his fellow fever fighters that the worst is over and that if the citizens of New Orleans are watchful and continue to give the authorities the same co-operation they have in the last few weeks the miracle will be wrought of stamping out the fever before frost comes to lay low the last of the fugitive steegomyia. Contrary to all expectations the fever is assuming a milder form at the period when it was expected to grow most deadly and the deaths have grown insignificant in number. That is true not only of New Orleans, but at the various points in Mississippi where the disease has appeared. In that state there have been about seventy cases to date and only one death. Wherever there has been a heavy death rate, as at Leesville, and on some of the plantations contiguous to New Orleans, it has been because the victims were Italians who either did not have or refused to accept medical attendance.

In carrying on the work here money has been expended with a lavish hand. More than a quarter of a million was appropriated, but even this amount does not represent by any means the total expenditures, for thousands of dollars have been expended by the volunteer ward organizations and many thousands by householders. Of the expenditure of money under the direction of the marine hospital service Dr. Warner said that not a penny has been distributed that has not resulted in lasting good to New Orleans. The question of national quarantine is looming larger every day as the fever spreads to the smaller towns and cities, injuring their business as it has that of New Orleans and bringing home to them the seriousness of irrational restrictions.

The police working with the marine hospital authorities continue to have trouble with the italians in the infected districts.

He Is Done With Japan.

Cleveland, O., Sept. 2.—Disappointed because the Japanese government renounced all indemnity in the peace settlement and did not insist on greater territorial acquisitions from Russia, Shosuke Kitani, Cleveland's leading Japanese merchant has renounced his allegiance to the Mikado by taking out his first naturalization papers. Similar action on the part of his countrymen is said to be also contemplated, as they believe their country showed weakness.

A CLEAR STATEMENT.

Charles F. Pfister Sets at Rest Insinuations Against Him.

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 2.—Charles F. Pfister, the capitalist who was indicted three weeks ago by the grand jury on the charge of having stolen $14,000 which had been placed in his hands by the Wisconsin Rendering Company, made public today a statement showing the manner in which the $25,000 which he held for the company was disbursed. After the indictment was returned the president of the rendering company denied that Mr. Pfister had misappropriated any of its money and since then the company has made full payment on notes held against it by Mr. Pfister, without offering any counter claim. The insinuation, however, has been circulated that the money, if not misappropriated, was used for corrupt purposes by Mr. Pfister. The statement now issued is corroborated by the bank record showing Mr. Pfister's personal account by a statement signed by President F. C. Gross, Joseph Schaff and Louis Schoyer of the Wisconsin Rendering Company, and also by a statement signed by John J. Criley, the contractor to whom most of the money was paid. None of this money, Criley states, was used for unlawful purposes.

These payments show conclusively that Mr. Pfister did not steal any of the Rendering Company's money and also that he did not use any of it in an improper manner.
